

SPECIALISTS IN ARCHITECTURAL METAL RESTORATION

About Us

Bespoke Patination provides specialist on-site metal restoration for luxury hotels, restoring worn, damaged, and deteriorated metal finishes without removal, replacement, or disruption to operations.

We work across entrance doors, lift surrounds, reception desks, handrails, decorative bronze, brass fittings, and stainless steel surfaces to help hospitality environments maintain the premium presentation expected of high-end venues.

Excellence Without Disruption

Onsite Mastery

We restore architectural metalwork exactly where it stands. No need to remove doors, railings, or fixtures.

Specialised Finishes

From brass & stainless steel polishing to antique bronze patination and more, we match your hotels aesthetic perfectly and restore tired metals on site in situ.

BESPOKE PATINATION

Hotel Café Royal

The main reception desk at Hotel Café Royal had dulled its original finish over time, due to constant use

Our team carried out a full on-site metal restoration, carefully refining the surface to bring back its depth, clarity, and reflective quality.

Every detail matters in spaces like this. The result is a finish that once again reflects the standard of the hotel.

George Palmer Bronze Statue Restoration

We were engaged to restore the iconic George Palmer bronze statue in Reading, a Grade II listed monument dating back to the 1930s. Over the decades, the statue had developed signs of aging, corrosion, and surface deterioration.

Our objective was to carefully bring the monument back to its original condition, preserving its historic value and public prominence.

BESPOKE PATINATION

Royal Lancaster Hotel, London

At the Royal Lancaster Hotel, London, these units within the Park Restaurant had suffered from surface tarnishing and wear over time. Our team carefully refinished the brass elements, restoring them to a consistent satin brass finish and sealing them to a lacquered specification for long-term protection.
